

Abstract

The invention provides methods to confer sterility and enhanced floral properties to plants, and plants having those properties.